GEORGETOWN'S WEEK OF TRAVAIL IS AT HAND WITH TWO GREAT CONTESTS

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

.Georgetown's week of travail has Today the varsity squad saves for New York where Fordham's strong team is to be met to morrow. Next Saturday the highestcoring eleven the Navy ever had will be played at Annapolis, No Georgetown eleven in the history of football at the Hilltop ever faced such a difficult week.

Nevertheless the Hilltoppers are filled with confidence. They really believe they will win both games They know they will defeat Fordham. They think they have an even chance to stop Gilmour Dobie's scoring machine, which has been trampling down all opponents and running up a total of 307 points.

The Hilltoppers leave this after moon for New York and will spend the night in the big town before graveling up to the Bronx for their annual clash with the Marcon. The entire squad will be taken to the netropolis, as Coach Exendine be-Heves he may need all of them before Fordham is humbled.

For the past week the Blue and For the past weed the fide an tray scrubs have practiced Fordham gormations against the versity, and Coach Exendine feels satisfied that his team can stop them. ### Melody and Comedy in Negro Football Clash For Camp Meade Stars

Camp Meade athletic activities attracted 20,000 men Sunday. Three regular football games were staged, several former college stars appearing to good advantage.

Melody and thrills and comedy were all combined, the best bit of comedy being furnished by a gridiron conflict between two negro elevents. These two teams didn't demonstrate any great knowledge of the game and the members of one team, made up of truck drivers, outweighed their opponents about forty pounds to a man. The truck drivers had regulation football uniforms; the drafters played in whatever they happened to have. One of the selects were a pair of white linen trousers, patent leather shoes and red socks. Atfer the first scrimmage, in which he got decidedly the worst of it, he began to hang back from active participation.
